“Bridging the Gap” is a service connecting Alcoholics Anonymous members (volunteers) with those interested in attending AA meetings (candidates) who are leaving or have recently left treatment or correctional facilities. There are no requirements or obligations for this service.

While there may be many people who want an alcoholic to stop drinking and seek help, only the alcoholic can make that choice. It is therefore requested that only the person who wants to attend AA meetings request a “Bridging the Gap” contact.

Our sole purpose is to bring the new person to several meetings and to introduce them to the fellowship and the program of Alcoholics Anonymous as quickly as possible after their release.
